INTRODUCTION

Just for a moment, picture a year where you step back from your daily routines to reflect on who you are and what excites you about life. How you spend your time is completely up to you. You could travel, work, volunteer, learn something new – the list goes on! This is a great opportunity to explore your interests, develop new skills and gain valuable life experience. There's no one-size-fits-all approach to achieving all this. There are plenty of ways to gain in experience and become a more confident person.

WHAT EXACTLY IS A GAP YEAR?

A gap year is usually a period of several months to a year where you take a break from school or work to focus on personal growth, self-discovery and new experiences. You can spend this time travelling, volunteering, working or exploring career paths, all while preparing for future academic, professional or life goals. You can organise your gap year however you like, making it fit your goals and personal situation.

Intrigued? Then you're in the right place! This edition of Boost! explores the many exciting ways to spend a gap year, whether you stay in Luxembourg or abroad.

WHAT ARE THE BENEFITS OF A GAP YEAR?

- Get a better idea of what you want to do next: Use this time to think about your future career and what you're passionate about.
- Acquire important life skills: Gain in maturity, self-confidence and independence as you adapt to new situations.
- Find new interests: Try out different jobs, hobbies and activities that could inspire your future studies or career path.
- Make your CV stand out: Gain practical experience, improve a language or volunteer to make you stand out to employers and universities.
- Meet new people and cultures: Travel, work or volunteer abroad to make meaningful connections and develop deeper intercultural understanding.
- Broaden your horizons: Step outside your comfort zone and experience life in a completely new environment, whether at home or abroad.

TIPS & TRICKS

Check out blogs or social media posts from other people who have taken a gap year. Their stories can provide inspiration, valuable advice and practical tips on everything from travel planning, work opportunities, to uncovering unexpected adventures!

WHEN CAN I TAKE A GAP YEAR?

A gap year is ideal for transitional periods in your life, such as:

- after high school and before starting higher education (Bachelor, BTS, etc.),
- between completing a Bachelor's and starting a Master's degree,
- after finishing your studies and before entering the job market,
- or simply whenever you feel ready for a new adventure!

TESTIMONIAL

A gap year opens the door to endless opportunities for growth, learning, and self-discovery. Here's one example of a gap year experience:

"My gap year was everything I was hoping for. I got to try different jobs, earn money, travel and learn about other cultures. Over the course of a year and a half, I worked in a bar, spent time teaching in primary schools around Luxembourg, and eventually travelled across three continents. This journey helped me decide on my field of study and has shaped who I am today, influencing my career decisions. It was one of the most defining experiences of my life."

ASK YOURSELF

To start planning your gap year, it's helpful to ask yourself a few key questions. These can guide you in figuring out your goals, preferences and needs:

QUESTIONS	IDEAS
What are my reasons for taking a gap year?	Are you looking to grow as a person, explore career paths, learn new skills, enhance your CV or recharge? There is no wrong answer - it only depends on you!
What are my goals?	Travelling, volunteering, gaining work experience, doing an internship, or pursuing a passion: these are all options that can help you pursue your aspirations.
Where do I want to spend my gap year?	Would you rather stay in Luxembourg or explore opportunities abroad? No matter where you go, you will grow as a person and collect experiences.
How can I fund my gap year?	Your plans will depend on your budget. Consider for example savings, part-time work before or during your gap year or financial support from your family.
What skills or experiences do I hope to gain?	Learning a new language, developing professional skills, improving your intercultural competence or gaining in independence and flexibility are all valuable skills that will benefit you in the long term.

How much time do I want to dedicate to my gap year?	Your gap year doesn't have to last a full year. Consider whether a few months, a semester or a full year is the best fit for your plans.
What activities interest me the most?	From volunteering and interning to travelling, studying, or working in a specific field, there are countless options. You don't have to choose just one!
What are my long-term goals, and how can a gap year help me achieve them?	Use your gap year to experiment with activities that align with your future career or personal goals. This time can set the stage for your next steps and boost you towards reaching your long-term goals.
Should I ask for advice or support from other people?	Talking to family, friends or mentors can provide you with new ideas. Hearing from people who've done a gap year can be especially inspiring and helpful.
 Add your own questions here: 	Reflect on any other specific priorities or preferences that matter to you as you start planning your unique journey.

LANGUAGE STAYS

A language stay is a period spent abroad with the aim of learning, improving or perfecting a language in the country where it is spoken. This trip can be an excellent way to discover a city or a country and, above all, open up new horizons for your professional and personal life. Additionally, a language stay can boost your confidence and foster greater independence.

Accommodation is often with a host family and stays usually last between 1 and 4 weeks. Such stays often include activities such as excursions, sports and cultural events.

For a safe and well-organised experience, it is recommended to travel with an approved agency. If you'd like to know more about language stays or possible agencies, visit jugendinfo.lu.

AU PAIR

If you enjoy working with kids or have babysitting experience, becoming an au pair is a great way to live in a new country while gaining valuable experience. This role involves living with a host family and taking care of their children, allowing you to fully immerse yourself in the local culture and improve your language skills. Along with hands-on experience in childcare and household management, being an au pair helps you build a close relationship with your host family, fostering cultural understanding and enhancing your communication skills. It's a good opportunity if you're considering a career in education, childcare or social services.

Online platforms can help you find a host family based on your preferences and skills. We recommend exploring multiple platforms to find the best match for your needs. Here are two popular options to find au pair placements abroad:

 Aupair.com

 Aupairworld.com

TIPS & TRICKS

Placement agencies, including those in Luxembourg, can help you find a host family at your destination. These agencies match you with families based on your preferences and skills. We encourage you to conduct your own research on various platforms to explore your options and agencies.

WORLDWIDE OPPORTUNITIES ON ORGANIC FARMS

Worldwide opportunities on organic farms (WWOOF) connects volunteers with organic farms around the world, providing an opportunity to learn about sustainable farming practices and work in more rural areas. Volunteers usually work between 4 and 6 hours a day in exchange for food and accommodation. Tasks can vary from harvesting and planting crops, field work, DIY, cooking and animal care. This platform is ideal for those interested in working outdoors and living with a host family or community, which gives you the chance to meet new people, learn new skills and connect with nature.

Opportunities vary depending on the type of farm, location and season, making each experience unique.

For more information about organic farm stays and WWOOF organisations, visit:

wwwoof.net

OTHER VOLUNTEERING PLATFORMS

Volunteering is a meaningful way to spend your gap year. You get to immerse yourself in local cultures, contribute to communities and gain unique experiences that you wouldn't get from just travelling. It's a great chance to learn new skills, make long-lasting memories and connect with people from all over the world.

Many volunteering experiences provide accommodation and meals in exchange for your help, making it a cost-effective option for those on a budget. There's a wide variety of opportunities to match your interests and goals, from organic farming and teaching to community projects.

Most volunteering platforms charge a yearly membership fee to access host listings. It's worth taking the time to look at what different platforms have to offer and read the reviews to make sure you find something that's right for you. Here are some examples:

 Worldpackers.com

 Workaway.info

 HelpX.net

INDEPENDENT TRAVEL

While we've provided numerous options for planning a gap year, independent travel can also be a valuable addition to your gap year. It gives you the freedom to explore the world at your own pace and in your own way. It could be a backpacking adventure, a road trip or simply spending time at a destination you've always wanted to visit. The journey is completely up to you!

Independent travel is a chance for you to get out of your comfort zone, meet new people and experience life from a different perspective. It can also be combined with other gap year opportunities like volunteering, learning a new language or a Work & Travel. Combining these experiences can make your gap year even more valuable, as you will have multiple opportunities to grow by building resilience, developing problem-solving skills and gaining in self-confidence.

TIPS & TRICKS

If you're planning to continue your studies after your gap year, remember to start researching and leave enough time for the application process! Use your gap year to decide what you want to do next. Don't forget to stay on top of deadlines and administrative steps to ensure a smooth transition.

MIX & MATCH

As you can see, a gap year offers many opportunities and diverse experiences, both in Luxembourg and abroad. During a gap year, you don't need to limit yourself to just one option!

For example, you could start with a short-term job in Luxembourg to save money and gain valuable work experience all at once. Next, you could volunteer abroad, followed by independent travel to immerse yourself in new cultures and further develop your independence. Upon return, you'll have the option to continue your studies or enter the workforce, equipped with a fresh set of experiences, skills and lasting memories.

Essentially, it's all about flexibility. A gap year gives you the freedom to explore what truly excites you. You can combine work, learning, and travel in any way that aligns with your goals and interests.

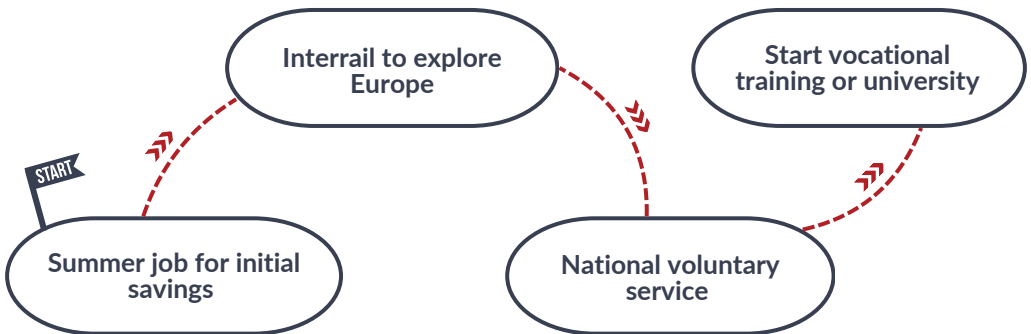

TIPS & TRICKS

There are many online agencies that offer to help you organise a gap year for a fee. However, planning and structuring your gap year independently can boost your sense of independence and make the experience more personal. For instance, you can combine the options provided here with independent travel to create a unique and flexible experience. If you choose to use an agency, make sure to check its reputation and ensure it fits within your budget.

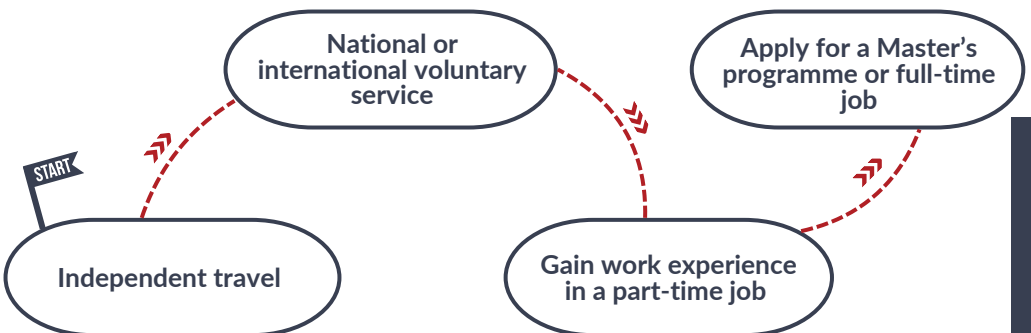

TIMELINE

Everyone is unique. Everyone has their very own goals and preferences, which makes each gap year a personal journey. These timelines are designed to showcase the variety of options available and help you imagine what your gap year could look like. Keep in mind, there's no perfect formula—it's all about finding the path that works best for you. Here are a few examples:
